University of Tasmania Foundation Studies

Prepare to study at university

Foundation Studies programs are a direct academic pathway to first-year undergraduate degree study. The programs act as a bridging course for international students who wish to study a university undergraduate degree course but don't yet meet academic requirements and/or have the English language skills for tertiary study.

To successfully complete the program, students must achieve a 50% pass in all units, including English.

If you successfully complete the UTAS Foundation Studies program and meet the specific university entry criteria, you will be guaranteed entry to the University of Tasmania. Please note that some degrees may have additional requirements. For more details, visit utas.up.education.
