Times Higher Education Impact Rankings 2024.

Our study locations

CDU has approximately 22,000 students, online and on campuses, with over 3,000 international students from more than 60 countries. This sets the scene for a truly inclusive and multicultural environment for study, career development and lifestyle. Our main campus is located in Darwin’s leafy northern suburbs in close proximity to iconic Casuarina Beach, and further satellite campuses deliver programs in Darwin Waterfront, Palmerston, Alice Springs and in the Sydney Central Business District (CBD). In close proximity to Asia and the South Pacific, we offer the ideal study location for every student.

Why Darwin? Australia's best-kept secret

Multicultural

Almost one-quarter of the Darwin population speaks a language other than English at home. While in Darwin, you can enjoy the many multicultural community groups, markets and international festivals.

Close to home

Darwin is the gateway to Asia, with a four-and-a-half-hour flight to Singapore.

A relaxed lifestyle

Wide-open spaces, tropical vibes, good public transport and little traffic.

Young population

A median age of 32 with a population of 143,000.

Tropical weather

As Australia's only tropical capital city, Darwin's weather is similar to the neighbouring countries.

Nature

Surrounded by world-class national parks, including Kakadu, Nitmiluk and Litchfield, you can experience stunning Australian wildlife and outback adventures.

Indigenous culture

Approximately 30% of the Northern Territory's population is Indigenous, and more than 4,000 Indigenous students study at CDU each year. There are many opportunities to experience and celebrate local culture.

History

The Northern Territory tells a unique story of ancient art and culture, wartime heroics and pioneering resilience.

Making the most out of support networks at CDU

“Studying at CDU has been an enriching experience. The university’s reputation for teaching quality and student support, coupled with its multicultural environment and top-notch education makes it a standout choice. The opportunity for practical skill development through placements and the support from staff and lecturers have been instrumental in my academic and personal growth. The university offers great opportunities like Insights to Industry Program, the AWESome program (Australian Workplace Experience), which gave me real-world working experience, and being part of the CDU Careers Center mentoring program was a game-changer for me. My mentor, an industrial professional, helped me figure out my career path. I highly recommend CDU for its supportive environment, fantastic programs and rewarding educational journey.”

Deepshikha, Master of Professional Accounting (Professional Practice)

Careers and Employability support

The Careers Centre team is here to support you during your studies, to find work while studying, and to secure your dream career after you graduate. The team will provide expert advice and give you a competitive edge in the job market.

Services:

- 🌱 workshops
- 🌱 networking events
- 🌱 mentoring programs
- 🌱 experience programs
- 🌱 a comprehensive self-help online resource
- 🌱 meet with the team for one-on-one appointments

Plan to graduate job ready

“One of the highlights of my experience at CDU has been the emphasis on employability and the Careers Centre. The Sydney Careers Centre provides ample support for preparing applications for internships and work placements. There are drop-in sessions every Tuesday as well as booked sessions for career advice, which include but are not limited to CV preparation, cover letter tips, mock interviews. It taught me a great deal of things and on every visit I feel as though I am one step closer to cracking that dream job that I have always wanted.”

Rohan, Master of Data Science

Volunteering

Volunteering is a great way to use your skills, give back to your community and meet new people. There are many opportunities to volunteer your time and you can find opportunities with the help of the Careers Centre team.

Get involved in community and industry

“CDU’s strong focus on practical, real-world skills in Cyber Security, drew me here. CDU’s unique collaboration with the Northern Territory Government provides unparalleled opportunities for direct community involvement, aligning with my aspirations.

The university is home to a multitude of clubs and organisations, such as the CDU Cyber Security Club and IoT Club, where I serve as President. These clubs provide a dynamic platform for students to connect, collaborate, and learn from each other, fostering a sense of belonging and community spirit.

It’s not just about academic growth but also about personal development and forming lasting connections.

The experience I’ve gained by taking on commitments and responsibilities, including volunteering and my part-time job, has been crucial in developing my multitasking skills and resilience preparing me for the professional world.

For those considering volunteer activities as part of their study experience in Australia, my advice is to actively seek out opportunities that align with your interests and career goals. University platforms, career centres, and clubs are excellent resources.”

I'm proud to say, I'm CDUian!

Sanjaya from Nepal, commenced with CDU at the Casuarina Campus in Darwin in the Summer Semester of 2022. This year, he is a graduate of the Master of Information Technology (Cyber Security).

“Choosing CDU is the best decision of my life, and it has given me all the opportunities that an International student looks for. We make CDU, and CDU makes us what we want to be!”

Sanjaya has taken every opportunity to make the most of his time with CDU. His enthusiasm and dedication to his study journey is only matched by the wide and diverse variety of opportunities on offer to students of CDU.

“I am a part of the CDU Cyber Security Club, acting as the Workshop and Event Coordinator. I am the Treasurer for the Women's Collective for Innovation and Change. I am an Ambassador of the Northern Territory Government initiative Study NT and have volunteered at events such as GovHackNT 2023 and the CDU IT CodeFair. I am also a Senior Buddy in the CDU Buddy Program, two years running now.

I have easily found part-time work here, and also have an active social life. I love fitness and a healthy lifestyle and have found this all with CDU in Darwin.”

Sanjaya explains that while he is not a native English speaker, he found his confidence with CDU through their English Language classes and opportunities for networking and community involvement.

“Darwin is a small city, far from the big and busy cities of Australia. For me it means less time wastage to travel to Uni, and work and gives me plenty of time to study and follow hobbies.”

Sanjaya is one of many students who are involved in all facets of life in their new home – from work, to study, to community participation and social life.

It's good to be you at CDU.

How much does it cost to live in Australia?

The Department of Home Affairs has financial requirements you must meet to receive a student visa for Australia. Therefore, knowing the average living costs in Australia is an important part of your financial preparation.

The cost of living in Australia varies from city to city, and students should not expect to fund their studies or living costs in Australia through part-time employment only. The Australian Government website costofliving.studyaustralia.gov.au/ provides an approximate guide to expenses according to the city and lifestyle.

Real work skills and experience

“ I want to recommend CDU Alice Springs Campus to future students. The way the lecturers teach is very detailed and understandable and the facility have the equipment to run as a commercial kitchen so I learn a lot of new things. Alice Springs also has many job opportunity so I can practice the things I learn in the real working environment.”

Vo Hoang Anh from Vietnam is a second year Certificate IV of Commercial Cookery student.

“ Right now I am working as a Chef in a restaurant in a hotel in Alice Springs. I really enjoy the work because I can prove the skills that I learn at CDU are real working solutions for my job.”

Cristiana is a Diploma of Hospitality Management student and began her CDU journey in TAFE Semester 1, February 2023.

“ If I have to describe my journey in one short statement, it will simply be “beyond expectations.”

I knew I wanted to pursue my dream of becoming a professional Chef. After research and asking friends and family, Charles Darwin University was most recommended.

Now halfway through my course I can confidently say CDU was the right choice!

The course is comprehensive and designed to meet industry standards. A significant part of this unforgettable journey is the wonderful guidance of the Chefs who teach us at CDU. Under their guidance, I have learned not only the art of cooking but also the importance of creativity, precision, and teamwork.”

CDU prides itself on employing lecturers and facilitators with the most up to date skills and industry experience. Those who love what they do and love to teach.

“ Chef Mark, Chef Shane and Chef Hayley are the most dedicated and loving chefs I have ever met. They are always available for one-on-one advice, offering constructive feedback to help us improve. I am proud of how far I have come and excited about the opportunities that lie ahead.”

Research

Research is central to CDU's purpose and our deep connections, take us out on country and into communities to ensure we are meeting real-world problems with real-world solutions. We are committed to providing cutting-edge research that supports northern Australia and our immediate Southeast Asian neighbours to thrive. Our research attracts global recognition in areas including tropical and desert knowledges, human health and wellbeing, Indigenous knowledges, social and public policy, and engineering, energy and resources. We want to see constraints transformed into innovations and new approaches that cross-disciplines.

Expert researchers

Twenty-eight outstanding CDU researchers were listed in the Top 2% of the most influential researchers in their field in 2023. (Stanford – Elsevier study 2023).

CDU is a top 100 young university in the world

CDU achieved 76th position in Times Higher Education's Young University Rankings 2024. The Ranking lists the world's best universities that are 50 years old or younger, with 673 universities featured from around the globe. CDU's ranking improved thanks to high scores in publication citations, international outlook, and research.

Times Higher Education also ranked CDU in the top 300 for Impact Rankings in 2023. The Impact Ranking benchmarks research against the United Nations' seventeen Sustainable Development Goals. The University ranked in the top 200 in the areas of Life Below Water, Sustainable Cities and Communities, Reduced Inequalities, Decent Work and Economic Growth, and Quality Education, and ranked 55th in Good Health and Wellbeing and 42nd for Gender Equality.

International exposure

Our research garnered a surge in international exposure in 2023. CDU research had 1,321 articles or broadcast mentions in international media in the year which reached a potential audience of more than 2.8 billion people.

First Nations research

The Molly Wardaguga Institute for First Nations Birth Rights is one example of CDU research that is globally significant and locally transformative. The Institute's Birthing on Country research focuses on the redesign of healthcare systems, investment in culturally appropriate community workforce, strengthening families, privileging First Nations knowledge and governance, and empowering self-determination. The very first djäkamirr (doula) training was held with Yolŋu women in Galiwin'ku in 2023. The training seeks to improve maternal care experiences in Yolŋu communities, which experience some of the highest rates in the country of babies being born too soon and outside of a healthy birth weight.

Marine partnership

CDU has teamed up with the Australian Institute of Marine Science (AIMS) to boost the Northern Territory's marine research capabilities. The AIMS@CDU Partnership will leverage a long-standing collaboration to align priorities, enable joint research projects, post-doctoral research fellowships and supervision of HDR Students and ensure better outcomes for north Australia's precious marine resources.

Fire management for northern Australia

The North Australia Fire and Rangeland Information service creates high-resolution satellite mapping to help land managers reduce bushfires and increase carbon-offset income for communities in the Northern Territory. During the Barkly region bushfires that occurred in late 2023 their fire information web portal supported through CDU's Darwin Centre for Bushfire Research received about 180,000 map requests a day, reflecting how their research has become embedded into the culture of fire management across northern Australia.

Protecting Sea Country

A research team made up of li-Anthawirriyarra Sea Rangers Unit (who look after Yanyuwa country), Northern Institute researchers, TropWATER, Northern Territory Parks and Wildlife & Australian Marine Parks won the 2023 Territory Natural Resource Management Collaborative Research Award for their work mapping seagrass in the Gulf of Carpentaria and protecting Sea Country.

Leading ant ecologist

In 2023, world-leading ant community ecologist Professor Alan Andersen was nominated for NT Australian of the year. Professor Anderson's expertise has improved the understanding of the Territory's biodiversity assets, helping to guide management of fire and invasive species, deepening Indigenous engagement in land and water management, as well as helping to develop economic opportunities in the new carbon economy.

PhD student given National Geographic Explorer status

PhD candidate Lucinda (Lulu) Middleton was named a 2023 National Geographic Explorer in recognition of her exceptional work researching upstream solutions to food and nutrition insecurity in coastal communities. Her research aims to identify the extent to which coastal communities depend on mangrove food systems for nutrition in Indonesia.

Resilience framework developed to combat NT's extreme heat

CDU researchers are investigating the role community leaders play in building resilience during times of drought. Researchers will then use this information to develop a drought resilience framework to help prepare and strengthen the community's response when drought occurs.

Ghost nets a national issue

Ghost nets are abandoned, lost or discarded fishing nets which can cause injury or death to marine species that may become entangled in them. To help combat ghost nets, CDU is using drones and artificial intelligence software routines to identify and quantify the volume of ghost nets from remote and difficult to access coastlines in the Gulf of Carpentaria.

Menzies School of Health Research

Menzies School of Health Research is one of Australia's leading medical research institutes dedicated to improving the health and wellbeing, particularly for First Nations peoples. For forty years, Menzies has led the way in global and tropical health research into life-threatening diseases and continues to translate its research into effective partnerships and programs in communities across Australia and the Asia-Pacific region.
